49 YEARS OLD — FRIDAY, AUGUST 13, 1937 — NO. 33

AROUND the TOWNSHIP

Bill Cavanaugh has returned from a trip to some of those wild woolly eastern states where beer is six-bits a bottle and the bartenders make folks mix their own cocktails. Bill went to see Misses Marie, Yvonne, Cecile, Anette and Emilie Dionne. He says the girls' pa runs a novelty store across the street from the nursery and sells bits of native rock as charms for those who want to do right by their country. Bill admits he bought one of said bits of rock.

* * * *

One of the interesting items in Sunday's parade was the entry of Ernie Frick who is now a boss plumber. Ernie started out with a backyard office in a barn. Every time it rained he had to keep shifting his stock because the roof leaked so. But now look at him.

* * * *

Those wso saw the seeing eye dog at the fair, would do well to observe Judy, companion of Mrs. Murray, Niles librarian. Judy is the same breed as the Seeing Eye dogs. No strangers need approach the Murray home with Judy there. She sleeps in the house at night, signals her mistress when she wants in or out by wagging her tail against the door.

Dogs of the shepherd type are strictly one-man animals. Bird dogs on the other hand, while fully as bright, think the world is their oyster. They will make friends with anyone. They are especially affectionate toward burglars.

* * * *

Gladys Williamson, Tribune reporter and about the hardest-working woman in the township, laored so enthusiastically on her story of the township fair the other morning that she busted the letter U on her typewriter. We have been speculatas to why she fractured that particular key and have come to the conclusion that she must have launched on some magenta descriptive passage in re the exhibits. Such as "Unusual for its union of the unique and the utilitarian, the fair was unfair was unbeatable for its unbeatable for its unbelievable universality."

Vegetable Association Calls On Tomato Men To Protect Crop Prices

CENTERVILLE — All tomato growers of this district are urged to protect themselves against the canneries by attendance at a meeting at 1 p. m. in the Washington Union High School on Sunday, August 15, says C. H. Langdon, vice president of the Alameda County Canning Vegetable Growers' association.

The meeting is being called primarily for the benefit of those canners who have no contracts.

Taking advantage of the fact and that many farmers have neglected to contract for their crops, canneries have refused to contract for more than $9 or $10 per ton—a ruinous price.

Vegetable growers declare that the canneries do not have sufficient tonnage but are attempting to take advantage of the imminence of harvest.

Langdon says that the Vegetable Growers association has devised a way out for those farmers who have been caught by the cannery scheme. This plan will be presented at the Sunday meeting.

Langdon announces further that the pro-rate is now in effect but that farmers who lack their primary certificates cannot b included in the setup. Primary certificates can be obtained from Langdon at 925 B street, Hayward.

Success Of Township Fair Results In Plans To Make It Annual Event

BOOTHS DRAWS HIGH APPROVAL

CENTERVILLE- Officials of the fourth annual Washington Township Fair were congratulated on the arrangement of booths at the tennis court as compared with the tent formerly used. Approximately 50 firms and organizations were represented and furnished a colorful display around the court illumined with strings of lights and Japanese lanterns. The booths which are portable will be stored for future events.

One of the booths of outstanding interest was that of the Boy Scouts including exhibits and souvenirs of the recent National Jamboree at Washington. Sleeping and packing equipment used at the 10-days camp at Washington were shown, the official jamboree flag, a complete file of the jamboree journal published by scouts, 23 varietes of neckerchef slides "swapped' with scouts of other sections and various craft projects including carved wood, leather work, bone totem poles, basketry, bird houses and various knots.

A piece of wood brought from the international campfire at the jamboree and some of the ashes from the fire lighted by Dan Beard, veteran national scout commissioner, will be kept as a valuable memento of the trip made by six representatives of Washington Township, W. T. Lindsay, field executive in charge of the Oakland Area Council contingent, George Bonde, Robert Zwissig, Lawrence Pine, Vernon Ellsworth and Roy Mathiesen. Some of the same wood and ashes will be taken to the world jamboree at Holland.

Another exhibit of interest was that of the Public Health Department under the direction of Mrs. O. W: Ebrght, public health nurse, also the 4-H Club, the Latham Foundation, the Farm Bureau, the California Nursery Company, the Holly Sugar Corporation, the Washington Township Future Farmers, the Graham Stove Manufacturing Co., the Morton Salt Co., the C. F. Salz Feed and Warehouse, the Centerville Nursery, The Innes Cloverdale and the Nagli Dairies, various bakeries and others. At the Williams Brothers Winery booth there was a 623-gallon cask of prize 1926 dry sherry. The Japanese American Citzenship League booth was one of the most attractive in the group.

Automobiles and various electric equipment handled by local dealers were of interest to the thousands of visitors who were present during the three days of the fair.

1200 ATTEND CORONATION BALL ON SATURDAY

CENTERVILLE- More than1200 people attended the coronation ball at the gymnasium of Washington Union High School as a part of the fourth annual Washington Township Fair sponsored by the Centerville Lions Club.

Sheriff John A. Miller of Contra Costa County officiated at the coronation ceremonies when Miss Wilma Martin of Alvarado was crowned queen. Her maids of honor were Miss Mary Anne Silva of Irvington, Miss Inez McNally of Centerville, Miss Patricia Bliss of Niles, and Miss Althea Kraft of Newark. They were robed in court dresses presented to them by the Lions Club and made a beautiful picture in the coronation procession followed by the grand march lead by Sherriff Miller and Queen Wilma.

THOUSANDS SEE DRILL MATCH

CENTERVILLE-Emeryville Post No. 1010, Veterans of Foreign Wars, won first place and a $100 cash prize in the drum and bugle corps contest held as part of the fourth annual Washington Township Fair at the high school Sunday afternoon. Several thousand people witnessed the spectacle. The Emeryville Post holds the State championship and also took home the $100 prize at last year's fair.

They scored 96.24.

Placing second was the Seapoint Parlor No. 158, N. S. G. W., of Sausalito with a score of 88.90 and a cash prize of $50. Third place was won by the Joseph P. McQuaide Post No. 1205. V. F. W. of San Francisco wth a score of 83.92 and a cash prize of $25.

The fourth contestant was the drum and bugle corps of the Oakland Tribune which scored 9.92. The boys (carriers) did not seriously compete with the other groups as this was their first exhibition drill but entered the contest as a gesture of cooperation with the fair officials. They were received with enthusiasm by the spectators.

LACK OF LICENSE FOR SALE OF CATTLE BRINGS CHARGE

CENTERVILLE — A complaint has been filed at the Centerville justice court against Joe Holdener of Russel City by L. D. Stodick of the Live Stock Identification Bureau of the State Department of Agriculture for violation of Section No. 368 of the Agricultural Code. The charge against Holdener is a technical one of failing to secure a license for sale of cattle. The law is framed as a protection against possibility of cattle rustling although there is no such implication in the present case, according to Deputy District Attorney Stanley Smallwood.

CENTERVILLE — That the Washington Township Fair will become a permanent part of the Lions Club program seemed to be evident following reports of the fair executive committee at Tuesday night's meeting of the club. It was also suggested that a permanent board of directors that would carry on from year to year should be appointed in order that experience gained might not be lost with new committees. It was intimated that an effort would be made to secure state aid for agricultural and livestock exhibits for next year's celebration.

Harold DeLeon, past president and general director of the fair gave the following financial report: Total gross income, $3,-231.75. Expenses, $2.972.47, with a total net profit of $259.28. In addition to this the club has equipment and materials valued at about $400, bought and paid for for this year's fair. Another fair is bidding on this and the portable booths may be sold or may be stored for future use.

Of the total, $1138, taken in at the queen contest. 20 per cent was turned back to the seven contestants and 20 per cent to the seven civic organizations sponsoring the campaign—The Alvarado Aerie of Eagles, Decoto Junior Chamber of Commerce, Newark Junior Chamber of Commerce, Irvington Junior Chamber of Commerce, San Jose Tangle and Twist Fishing lub, enterville Fire Department and the Niles Junior Chamber of Commerce. DeLeon and other chairmen were highly commended for the success of the fair.

J. V. Goold, new president, had charge of the meeting and Jack Boyd was chairman of the evening, introducing representatives of the State Chamber of Commerce who discussed the new Eastshore Highway.

ASSISTANT POSTMASTER ON VACATION

James Cull, assistant postmaster at Niles, is enjoying a two weeks vacation.

Colorful Parade Marks Fourth Annual Fair

CENTERVILLE- One of the most colorful parades ever held in this end of the county marked the fourth annual Washington Township Fair held this week-end in Centerville under the sponsorship of the Centerville Lions Club. The line of march reached for more than a mile and took an hour to pass a given point. It was witnessed by 10,000 people, at least half of whom lingered to take part in the celebrationat the fair grounds at Washington Union High School and to see the drum an dbudgle corps contest held Sunday afternoon.

Joe Adams, chairman of the parade, has been receiving congratulations all week for the splendid showing that entries made. Interesting to home-town folks because of the personnel of groups, the parade was also of great informational and educational value to visitors as a complete outlay of Washington Township products and undertakings was evident, all the way from pretty girls and rosy cheeked children to fine horses, cattle and sheep, flowers, fruits, vegetables, wines and manufactured products.

Captain Francks of the California State Highway Patrol and Undersheriff Hugo Radbruch lead the parade, followed by Constable Tom Silva and Frank Madruga, chairman of last year's parade: The color guard of the Washington Township American Legion came next followed by more than 100 entries of uniformed bodies, bands, drum corps and floats.

Prominent among other cities represented were San Francisco, Oakland, Emeryville, Sausalito, Hayward, Pleasanton, Livermore an dSan Jose.

Of particular interest were entries of the Newark Haywire band, the Livermore Eagles Cowboy Drums Corps, the Pleasanton Fiesta del Vino, the Alvarado accordion group, the Oakland Tribune carriers drum corps, the Filipino Community Organization, the Campos School of Music, the Washington Township Sportsmen's Club, the old-time entries from Irvington, the Althea Kraft dancing school, the Swiss Alpine Club, the 20-30 bicycle club from Hayward, the Hayward Fife and Drum corps, the Seapoint Native Sons drum and bugle corps from Sausalito, the Native Sons of Centerville, Max Stevenson, pioneer horseman, the Future Farmers of Washington Union High School, the Joseph P. FARMERS CORNER

By Ralph H. Taylor

California border quarantine stations are efficiently administered and have prevented the introduction into California of plant pests an ddiseases which have proved disastrous to agriculture in many other areas.

The border inspectors, during 1936, examned 944,750 automobiles enterng the state and intercepted 25,887 lots of plants or plant products infested with serious pests, or in violation of quarantine regulations.

There is admitted delay and inconvenienc to the traveler, in some instances, but the continued use of "Why, slips, explaining the vital necessity for the inspections, should help to educate the public and allay criticism:

In highlight summary, such are the findings of a special investigating committee of the State Chamber of Commerce, which recently concluded an exhaustive inquiry into "the value and necessity of border quanentines." The committee, headed by A. J. McFadden, now president of the Chamber was appointed last Feb- and included in its membership the following outstanding representatives of business, industry and agriculture; Eugene Battles, Los Angeles insurance executive, H. J. Bennett, San Francisco industrialist, A. C. Hardison, Santa Paula orchardist and past president of the State Farm Bureau Federation, G. H. Hecke, oWoodland farmer and former director of the State Department of Agriculture, J. C. Nowell, city manager of Hillsborough, L. B. Yeaton, Los Angeles business man, and R. N. Wilson, drector of the agrcultural department of the Chamber.

Many serious pests established in other parts of the nation do not occur in California, some of the more important being the cotton boil weevil: Colorado potato bettle, Japanese veetle, Oriental fruit moth, cherry fruit flies, European corn borer, Mexican fruit fly, apple maggot.

California s surrounded by natural barriers, including deserts, mountains and oceans, so there is unusual opportunity for quarantines to be effectve.

BROWNS PLAN VACATION PROGRAM FOR YOUNGSTERS

NEWARK—Extensive plans for work in Presbyterian churches of Washington Township have been made by Rev. and Mrs. Vernon Brown, the first special feature to be a two-weeks' vacation program for boys and girls the last of this month.

A routine of play and study, music and craft work will occupy the attention of the youngsters from 9 to 11:30 a. m., or during afternoon sessions from 1:30 to 4 o'clock. It is expected that two directors will assist Mr. and Mrs. Brown.

The Newark program will be held each morning except Saturday and Sunday, beginning Aug. 16. The Centerville program will also be held in the morning. Allvarado's program time has not been definitely decided. It is probable that a similar affair will be held at the Irvington church. Definite announcements will be made later through newspapers, handbills and announcements whenever possible.

All children from 6 to 16 years of age are invited to attend. The directors are being sent by Dr. C. L. Duncan of the Board of Christian Education. One of them will be Paul Baird, son of Dr. J. H. Baird, president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo.

AGED RESIDENT OF TOWNSHIP PASSES AWAY

NILES—Miss Julia Ashman, aged 82, native of Washington Township and resident here all of her life, passed away and was given final rites under the direction of the Berge Mortuary at Irvington on Monday. Interment was at the Holy Sepulchre cemetery in Hayward. She was the aunt of Mrs. Kathryne O'Neill and Mrs. Marie Closs of St. Louis, Missouri. Services at the Berge Mortuary were followed with mass at the Corpus Christi church at Niles: The Rosary will be recited Sunday at 8 o'clock. Pallbearers were Lawrence Kellar, John Ford, Bert Silveria, Dan Quartaroli, A. J. Rezendes and Chris Kellar.

Annual costs to growers for controlling pests and diseases introduced to California before quarintines were established are enormous. One instance, the red scale of citrus which is estimated to cost $1.1000.000 yearly.

Many California crops because of costs of land, irrigation and transportation return a narrow margin of profit which easily could be wiped out by a major pest.

Most significant in the Committee's findings perhaps, is the fact that only one pest--the alfalfa weevil-- has been introduced into California since the border quarantine service was established while during the same period nearly a dozen new pests were brought into other parts of the county from abroad.

Seeking to improve the Plant Inspection Service and eliminate unnecessary inconvenience to the public, the nvestgatng committee made three major recommendations.

1.--That adequate facilities be provided at all stations to care for travelers while inspection is being performed.

2--That border stations of the Plant Quarantine Service and border stations of the State Motor Vehicle Department be combined for the convenience of the traveler: (In many instances this has already been accomplished.)

3--That an inquiry be made to determine whether the baggage of people traveling on trains should be searched for contraband. Inquiries a few years ago indicated that this type of traveler did not present a sufficient agricultural pest menace to justify a special train inspection service.

In conclusion, the Committee found that "Border quarantines are of inestimable value to the state, are being efficiently administered, and should be maintained at a high level of efficiency."

BOYS AND GIRLS INVITED TO VACATION SCHOOL

NEWARK.-All boys and girls of the ages of 6 to 16 years are invited to attend the vacation assemblies to be held under the direction of Rev.and Mrs. Vernon Browning of Newark, beginning next Monday. Definite announcement of time and place will be made in churches Sunday and on handbills to be distributed throughout the township. Rev. and Mrs. Brown will be assisted by two directors to be sent by Dr. C. L. Duncan of the Board of Christian Education. One of them will be Paul Baird, son of Dr. J. H. Baird, president of the San Francisco Theological Seminary at San Anselmo.

Classes will open at 9 o'clock and continue untl 11:30 at the Newark and Centerville churches. It s also probable that there will be similar groups at Alvarado and Irvington:

Those attending will be divided into groups according to ages. There will be music, study, craft work and games:

FORD GIVES $1000 TO BOY SCOUTS 1937 BUDGET

NILES—With the reception of a check from William H. Ford this week, the $5,000 budget of the Southern Division of Boy Scouts has been assured for this year. While Mr. Ford did not wish the amount of his check announced it is one of the largest ever made and local scout officials have expressed to him their appreciation of his generous support of this program. Mr. Ford's donation to the scout campaign last year enabled Southern Alameda County to employ a full-time field executive for the first time and rapid strides have been made in scouting during the past 12 months.

Other individual subscribers number approximately 1,000 and the amounts given are considerably in exoess of last year's. The solicitations were made by groups of civic leaders in Hayward, Livermore, Pleasanton and Washington Township.

At present there are 450 Boy Scouts in the Southern Division, comprising 18 troops, two cub packs, one at Niles and one at Livermore, and a sea scout troop in Hayward. Three more cub packs are in the offing in Hayward and two new troops in Washington Township.

A meeting of leaders is being planned for September and plans were being made this week for a Scout booth at the Washington Township Fair in Centerville this week-end. There will be an exhibition of National Jamboree souvenirs, equipment, etc. The five boys from Niles and Centerville who made the trip to Washington will be in charge of the booth—Lawrence Pine, George Bonde, Jr., Robert Zwissig, Vernon Ellsworth and Roy Mathiesen.

Copies of the jamboree paper were received by friends of the scouts in Niles this week. .

THE NEW ROAD

Township people are getting a clearer picture of the new highway project at Niles. Niles merchants have noticed no loss of business from the rest of the township by reason of the elaborate and roundabout approach to the town from Newark and Centerville.

The safety angle still remains a matter of doubt. It is quite possible that the new approach will be more hazardous than the old, in spite of grade crossing elimination.

Some day, when the town has grown larger, something should be done to improve the appearance of the town for those who enter it from the southeast.

The bed of the creek might be levelled off, a low dam thrown across near the railroad bridge, and shallow lake created for wading. Then some of the vacant land near the ridge could be made into an attractive camping ground. This would draw much holiday business to Niles.

STICK TOGETHER

The San Leandro News has been leading a fight for an independent postoffice in that city. At present, the postoffice is a branch of the Oakland office. If San Leandro can use help, south county communities should co- operate.

There is altogether too little recognition of southern Alameda county interests on the part of the county, state and national governments.

Southern Alameda county gets the tail end of everything, simply because the politicians want to please the heavy vote in Oakland. Individually, the southern communities can do little about this. They must help each other.

* * * *

There is altogether too much driving of automobiles around here by irresponsible kids—boys too heedless to be allowed with cars. The other day two youngsters spent a happy hour driving up and down the main street of Niles at a high speed in a decrepit roadster. Fortunately nothing happened but if they had damaged something, there could have been no recovery. Boys have no money. Boys never worry about insurance.

Many nineteenth century doctors recommended the wearing of heavy beards as protection against throat troubles. This may explain why some of our great grandfathers wore heavy beards.

Many sore throats if not given suitable treatment may develop into something more serious.
